

A $25,000,000 NEW YORK BANK.—For some time past it has been in contemplation to raise a twenty five million bank in the city of New York under the new Banking law. To this end a list of names were some time since prepared and submitted to a few of the faithful, most of the selected and elected parties being worth their one million of dollars each. On consultation it was declared that A. was not of the right stripe, because not thoroughly in for the war according to the notions of B., and that C., was not of the right stripe, because he did not believe in the policy of the Administration. After this fashion several of the names were struck off. A gentleman who was applied to to be President of this proposed mammoth Bank, remarked that he was not ready for such a step, because it would cripple all the smaller institutions of the city, and because after they had exhausted their capital and their influence in sustaining the credit of the Government, it was not honorable to destroy them by such a Bank monster as was proposed. This was an unexpected opposition, and the new Bank is therefore in abeyance for the present, but by no means given up. The attempted exclusiveness of the concern must injure it in the end.—[Letter from Washington.]

The New Orleans Era, Gen. Banks's personal organ, gives an official return of the losses during the whole siege in the negro regiments, from which it appears that—"there were engaged in the siege of Port Hudson two regiments of colored troops, the First and the Third, both together numbering 1,245 men.—Of these 28 were killed, 123 wounded by gunshot, and 46 by falling trees, making the total casualties 197. Many of the wounds were slight, from which the sufferers have since recovered."

An order has been received from Washington, by the Provost Marshal of New York, ordering the enrollment lists of the first nine Congressional districts, to be revised, and if any errors appear the same are to be corrected. All the enrolling officers have been notified and will assemble to-day to make the necessary corrections; they will have to compare notes and see that no name will appear more than once. Considerable time will be required to perform this duty, probably, two or three weeks.

A recent statement that Gen. Gilmore was landing two hundred-pounder Parrotts to operate against Fort Wagner, is wholly false.

A Mammoth Bakery at Alexandria Va.,

[Correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer.]

During my rambles to-day I stopped into the Government Bakery, a short distance out of Alexandria, which is managed by Capt. A. B. Mott, of Wyoming county, Pa., attached to the Commissary Department. The bakery, a one story frame building, with its appurtenances, covers a little more than an acre of ground. About two hundred men are constantly employed, twenty ovens are in operation, and between four hundred and five hundred barrels of flour are daily converted into good, wholesome bread, which is furnished to the Army of the Potomac and hospitals and garrisons around Alexandria. Five hundred barrels of flour will turn out ninety thousand loaves or rations of bread, twenty-two ounces to the loaf. The yeast is made at the bakery from potatoes, malt and hops; the bread turned out is of the best quality, there being no deleterious substance worked in.

According to the army regulations, each soldier is entitled to twenty-two ounces of bread or flour daily, but by the Government doing the baking for its own troops, a great saving is effected in the difference between bread and and flour, and the soldiers, who invariably prefer soft bread to "hard tack" or flour, are greatly benefitted thereby. The saving in the month of June alone was 3174 barrels of flour to the Government, in the difference between bread and flour, and the gain in four months has been sufficient to pay all expenses of erecting and supplying the bakery, $23,000, and net a surplus of $7000 to $8000 in addition. Gas has been introduced throughout the building, and into the ovens, so that the bakers can see that the bread is not overdone or not baked enough. The water is also introduced, and six hundred feet of hose kept on hand to guard against fire. The railroad passes by the side of the main building, where flour is delivered from the cars into the warehouse, and the bread is taken directly into the cars and sent to the Army of the Potomac, who thus receive fresh bread every day.

Some of the bakers are workmen from Europe, and they assert that there is no bakery of this magnitude in the old country, and it is believed to be the largest establishment of the kind in the world. The highest issue of bread in one day from this bakery was 114,550 loaves, in February last. During the month of July only 350,000 loaves were issued, the Army of the Potomac being mostly on the march and subsisting on "hard tack," but since its return to the Rappahannock the bakery has been worked nearly to its full capacity to supply the army.

Capt. Mott is assisted by Mr. Zephaniah Jones, of Washington city, as Superintendent, who was formerly in charge of the Capitol extension, and who was also superintendent of the bakery in the Capitol building a year or two ago.

ICE IN CAMP.

RAPPAHANNOCK RIVER, Monday, Aug. 10, 1863.—To say that it is warm in this latitude would hardly convey to the mind of the reader the temperature of the atmosphere where the army of the Potomac is encamped. It is positively hot—sweltering hot; and yet the men do not really suffer so much from heat as those who are housed in cities. The only advantage the latter have is a few of the cooling luxuries of life, but then, thanks to our secesh friends, we have a reasonable supply of ice. Mr. Kelly, after whom Kelly's Ford is named, and many other residents at Warrenton, Sulphur Springs, and along the river bank, not supposing that Union troops would spend another summer on the Rappahannock, last winter laid in a large supply of ice, and our troops are now using the valuable commodity, and it is a real luxury.

People who have a cake of ice brought to their doors every morning do not know what ice is when used as a luxury. Every ice-house is honored with a guard, and each regiment receives a small piece every day. The owners have exhausted every argument to convince the commanding general that frozen water is not an article liable to be seized under a civilized system of warfare, but without success.
